Embracing Mixed-Use Development

The concept of mixed-use development is not new. The idea of mixing, in close proximity, the areas in which we live, work, and play has been a part of us throughout history. As we became more modernized, the scale of industrialized society created incompatibilities which necessitated the separation of land uses and led to the development of zoning laws and regulations that separated the land uses. The term "mixed-use development" emerged in the early 1960s where the idea of mixing uses such as office, retail, and living space became popular in older, decaying urban area undergoing revitalization.

Typically, to be defined a "mixed-use" development, a project must be characterized by multiple revenue-producing uses such as retail, office, and residential uses developed in conformance with a plan that physically and functionally integrates all of the project's components.

Benefits of a mixed-use development include:

- Reduced reliance on automobiles. Residents in a typical mixed-use development can conduct more of their daily activities within a walkable distance. This is a particular advantage to seniors living independently.

- Increased number of transportation options. Mixed-use developments are typically located near major transportation hubs such as rail stations and bus stops and also provide pedestrian walkways and bicycle paths.
- Improved housing options for different types of households. Given the higher living densities common to mixed-use developments, apartments of various sizes and

The Fairfield on Main project is an example of a mixed-use development that will combine retail and residential uses, all in close proximity to downtown.

Police Department Scheduling Change Puts More Officers on the Street

You may have wondered how the Police Department determines when and where to deploy police officers throughout the City. Through Computer Aided Dispatch (CAD) records, the Police Department is able to track calls for service by location, day of the week, and time of day. By analyzing this information, peak activity times are identified and officers are deployed accordingly.

The implementation of 10-hour work shifts in 2005 provided an overlap time within the shift schedules that can be used to address high activity periods and also be adjusted as needs change. Currently the highest activity period for calls-for-service begins around 4 p.m. and tapers off by 1 a.m. As you may expect, the busiest days

New City Park Opened

The City of Grapevine proudly celebrated a Grand Opening and Ribbon Cutting Ceremony of Bellaire Park on Thursday, September 6th. The new park, located at 1004 Pine Street, is the City's first Quality of Life Project as approved by Grapevine voters in the referendum election last November.

A special feature in this new park is the recycled rubber granulated surface—a loose-fill material. This material is designed to wear and last much longer than alternative surfaces.

Present at the Grand Opening were the Grapevine Parks Team, Mayor William D. Tate, City Council members, Parks Board members, many area residents and other City officials.

We hope you will experience and enjoy Grapevine's newest park! 🍇

- townhomes lend a variety of options for different types and sizes of households.
- Empowered sense of place. Mixed-use developments have the ability to create a sense of “place” or identity to the area where they are located, as well as to the general community. They can provide a place for people to meet and interact—for those who reside in the mixed-use area as well as those from outside.
- Creates an “active” urban place. Mixing uses enables a more active population and presents more activities in the area for more hours of the day, creating a more vibrant, safe environment. 🍇 of the week are Friday and Saturday.

During peak times on Sunday through Thursday, 16 officers are scheduled for duty to accommodate the high call loads. On Friday, the overlap provides 24 officers on the schedule, and on Saturday there are 26.

In addition to the overlap schedule, the recent addition of a lieutenant (shift commander) to each shift allows the shift supervisor (sergeant) to remain on the street with his officers providing increased first-line supervision.

An added bonus is the volunteer patrols provided by the members of the Volunteers in Police Service (VIPS) who donate their time patrolling parking lots, providing motorist assists and vacation house checks, thus freeing the officers to concentrate on more serious public safety issues. All of the VIPS are graduates of the Grapevine Police Department Citizen Police Academy and provide other services within the Department as well.

Staying GREEN in Grapevine

How many of the following statements do you think are true?

- About 25 percent more trash is generated between Thanksgiving and New Year's Day than during other times of the year.
- The City of San Diego recycles more than Dallas, San Antonio and Austin combined.
- Plastic bags kill about one million birds and 100,000 sea mammals (sea lions, seals, and whales) every year.
- About 90% of the trash floating in the ocean is plastic. (Example: Sea turtles mistake plastic bags for jellyfish, eat them and can suffocate to death).
- 73% of garbage is buried in landfills, 14% is burned in incinerators, and 13% is recycled.
- If all the steel cans that were recycled each year were stacked, they would reach from the Earth to the moon and back again more than three times.
- Americans throw away enough cans and bottles in one week to circle the earth four times.
- Every day American businesses generate enough paper to circle the Earth 20 times.
- Recycling one ton of material saves three cubic yards of landfill space.
- Five recycled bottles make enough fiberfill to stuff one ski jacket.
- Each person in the United States throws away 2.4 plastic bottles per day. 🍇
